TESTIMONIALS

I recently turned to Marty when a big presentation loomed on the horizon. He helped me get my message across and “wow” the audience. Afterwards, a division head wrote a congratulatory e-mail: “We were extremely impressed with how you used humor to drive home a very strategic point.” Thanks to Marty’s expertise, I hit a home run.

-Peter Longo, VP Sales, Sunquest Information Systems

Marty presents a hilarious, motivational, and practical approach to getting your life back on track. This presentation will appeal to the couch potato as well as the ultra marathoner. Don’t miss this well grounded success story.

-Dr. Daniel Marshburn, Atlanta Medical Center

I really appreciated the training session and I know I have several points brought to light about the way I do things now that I can change for a better response from my customers. I believe this has been the best training in which I have participated.

-Anabell Castillo, Apple

I was most impressed with the way you immediately connected with your audience, exhibiting both humor and sincerity, weaving your personal story of transformation while simultaneously giving subtle motivation tips to our sales team. From a management perspective, your session was certainly a winner - I highly recommend it!

-Paulette Wilder, McKesson

I have been inspired by speakers before, but never motivated into action, like I was with your presentation. Using your suggestions and tips I have started my own get fit plan, and seeing results. I have lost 8 pounds in the 5 weeks on the plan. You have a great sense of humor which helped to drive home your points and I still think back to them to keep me on track.

-Linda Horne, McKesson

Marty provides three integrated programs to organizations who want to grow their sales with high-energy people delivering high-energy presentations.
